

Useldange Castle

A cultural itinerary for blind and the partially sighted

A trail for partially sighted visitors is being set up under the patronage of UNESCO.

It leads around the castle and inside the tower and presents local culture in twenty stages. The partially sighted are literally offered the opportunity to feel, hear and touch History.

The cultural itinerary also aims to present the local wildlife and integrates the aromatic herb garden to encourage visitors to discover the great variety of local plants and herbs - well marked by specially designed panels for partially sighted visitors. The towers are not accessible to people with reduced mobility.
